Our topic this term has been Port of Plymouth. The children have been learning all about the Tudor reign, the important events and dates within a time line, what life was like, the different monarchs and religions as well as the demise of. The children have been sketching Tudor portraits inspired by Tudor artist Hans Holbein, they experimented with oil pastels and used these to build on their sketches. In music, we have been listening to Tudor music and writing their own Tudor lyrics based off the song Greensleeves and learning to play and perform it on an instrument. The children have put all of their learning together and created Power point presentations to show case this.
