

Star Learners

Congratulations to all our Star Learners this week. We are proud of you all!

Week ending : Friday 7th March

Brahms Class

I is our star learner this week. She is always such a kind friend and looks out for others. She is always ready, respectful and safe. Well done !!

Mozart Class

J is our star learner this week. He has really applied himself to his topic learning and has designed a wonderful garden and planted some different seeds. We can't wait to see how they grow!

Price Class

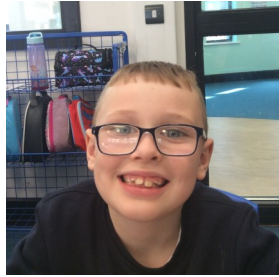

Our star of the week is J for working hard in both her English and Maths, particularly in her writing a narrative based on 'Where the Wild Things Are'

Vivaldi Class

Our star learner this week is L. She has produced some amazing writing this week, using all the features we have been talking about in class. It has been lovely to read. Keep it up L!

Zimmer Class

T is our star learner because he has worked hard to make his writing more interesting this week. He has used some fantastic adjectives. Well done T!

Lloyd-Webber Class

Our star for this week is G for her excellence across all lessons and her consistent fantastic attitude and hard work.

Bernstein Class

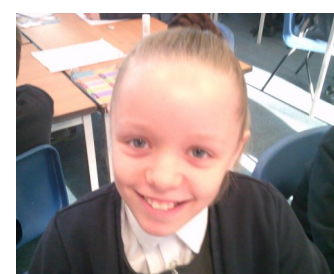

A is our star this week for his super effort in maths. He also made Miss Pumphrey smile with his super ideas in English. Well done A!

Dun Class

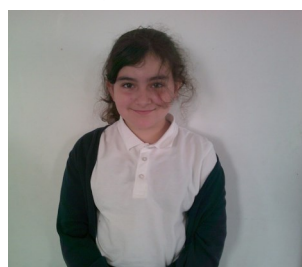

Our star learner this week is S for her creative writing and brilliant French skills. Well done S!

Holst Class

E has demonstrated fantastic resilience in maths this week when learning how to multiply different fractions by an integer. She has also produced a lovely atmosphere description in English.

Elgar Class

Elgar's star learner this week is T. She has progressed amazingly throughout the year in all subjects and has this week written a fantastic documentary narrative.

Tchaikovsky Class

M is our star learner for persevering across the board on all her learning and for coming to school everyday with a smile on her face which makes others smile.
